SUFFRAGE FIGHT STILL IN THE AIR

Status of Uninitiated Ballots Is Very Important

Information from the counties where the recount on the woman suffrage amendment has been in progress indicates that the situation is about as much "up in the air" as at any time since election and it is almost certain that it will finally have to be passed, on, if not the fate of the amendment actually decided, in the courts.

The surprising feature about the recount is the failure of the review of the vote in Wayne county to bring about any advantage for the woman suffragists. Instead of resulting in a gain for the amendment, it has brought about a loss for it of over 1,000 votes in every ward recounted the review of the ballots has resulted in increasing the apparent majority against amendment.

This condition would put the question of the status of the amendment beyond debate if it was not for the question that has arisen relative to the legality of counting ballots that are not initialed. It is on this point that the dispute is likely to find its way to the courts. It is now reported that the attorney general's department will join with the woman suffrage leaders in getting a ruling from the supreme judges.

It is claimed that there are enough uninitialled ballots involved in Wayne, Kent and Saginaw counties, where the votes are now being recounted, to mean the success of the amendment, if the courts held that all ballots have to be initialed. This claim, however, is combatted by anti-suffragist leaders who have been following the recent recount closely.

W. C. T. U. MEETING HELD

The Houghton county branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union held a meeting at the Portage LaBaptist church yesterday afternoon. No business of importance was transacted at this meeting. The society is at present concentrating its energies on increasing its membership and a number of new members were admitted at the meeting. The society will meet again Jan. 3 at the same place.

ARTICLES ARE SIGNED.

Allard Will Weigh in at 158—Godfrey Two Pounds Lighter.

The articles for the boxing match between Art Allard of Butte and Art Godfrey of Minneapolis were signed and received by the Hancock promoters yesterday. Manager Callahan has been informed that Allard will weigh in at 158 pounds at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the bout while Godfrey will scale two pounds lighter.

Two good preliminaries will be arranged, Manager Callahan announces.

The meeting will take place in Germanna hall the evening of December 26. A staging will be built out in front of the stage and the ring constructed on this. Both men report they have been training for this match for some time and are in condition to put up a fine exhibition.

PLANS BIG CLASS.

The Italian Citizen's League will hold their next meeting on Jan. 5, and it is indicated that a big class of new members will be admitted at that time. So far there have been twenty applications received this month, and it is likely that more will come in before the meeting. The league is one of the strongest organizations in the county, having a large membership already and with this added strength will likely undertake a vigorous campaign to raise its membership still higher.

METER FIGHT IS STILL ON

Those in Favor of Meters Recall Circular Against Waste

The party in the city government in favor of extending the meter system is preparing to fight the matter when it comes up at the coming council meeting. The statement was made at the last council meeting that the shortage of water in the reservoirs, which Mr. Stockly complained of and advanced as one of the reasons why meters should be put in to stop the waste, had not been complained of hitherto, and that it was due to other causes. In refutation of this statement Mr. Stockly has cited the following extract taken from a circular issued by the board of public works before the present general manager took the position. The circular is dated June 28, 1910, or about two years and five months ago. The extract is as follows:

"The attention of the citizens is also called to the fact that owing to excessive sprinkling and wastage a large number of people in the upper parts of the city are without any water for drinking or fire protection, and life and property in the entire city may be in danger. This makes it absolutely necessary for the water department to enforce the metering of the water."

The fight over the proposed installation of meters is still stirring the citizens. Jacob Baer, president of the board of public works, and George C. Bentley, judge of probate, have both joined the forces opposed to the metering of the water.

Mr. Baer, while a member of the board which passed the resolution that precipitated the fight, was not present at that meeting, and says he has been informed of the meeting in time for him to arrange his work to attend, he would have opposed the passage of the resolution. Mr. Baer does not believe in removing the meters from business houses or from other places where the consumption of water is large and in this respect he is not exactly in accord with the other members of the anti-meter party.

Mr. Bentley takes the stand that all water should be supplied on a flat rate at least if not on a free basis as was once done. He says the rate at which water is supplied to the heavy consumers, like a hotel, brewery or laundry, should be more than that charged to the individual consumer who uses a comparatively small amount.

WIVES MAKE MARRIAGE UNHAPPY, SHE SAYS

MRS. EDWARD W. HOOKE.

With twenty-four years of happy married life to back up her ideas, Mrs. Edward W. Hooke, New York woman of affairs, states that 75 per cent of the unhappy marriages are made unhappy by the wives.

Mrs. Hooke says, should be considered in a business partnership, and difficulties should be adjusted as two men in business would adjust their affairs without dissolving partnership. Men are kids, and must be treated as such by their wives. Only one-fourth of the marriage failures are due to the selfishness of the men.

DANCE AT ODD FELLOWS.

A dance will be given next Saturday evening at the Odd Fellows hall in Hancock by a party of Hancock young men, including Frank Shinn, Will Thomas, John Rodda, Jr., Thomas Tippett, Joseph Pauli and Fred Hosking. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Hancock city orchestra.

SEASON'S CLOSING NORMAL.

Northern Wave Passes Out of Hancock—Season Ends on Time.

The navigation through the Portage lake will be officially declared at an end next Saturday when Observer Coadwick will close his stations at Ontonagon and other outlying ports and cease displaying his storm warnings at Houghton. The actual close of navigation comes today when the steamer Northern Wave clears from the canal.

This close is just about the same as in other recent years. The average date fell in November, until 1887, when the Mutual Transit boats began making trips along into December and this has postponed the closing of navigation through this port until about Dec. 10.

In 1910 the channel was open for small boats as early as March 27, although no passages were recorded until April and although the last boat went out on Dec. 7, the Reed tug, Saranac City, kept the ice in the lake broken until January. In 1911 the tug Daniel Hebard brought in several boats and went down for the last time on Dec. 5. In 22 years the ear-

A meeting of the eighteen members of the troupe that put on the Elks show, "Because She Loved Him So," was held in the Hancock temple last evening for the purpose of formally organizing the company.

Mrs. J. G. Coppo, now a resident of Butte, but for many years a well known figure in Hancock, passed away at her home last Saturday evening, according to the message received by Hancock friends yesterday. Mrs. Coppo was formerly Miss Sadie Fitzpatrick of Hancock.
